Principles for profit distribution: The Company shall implement a positive profit distribution policy, attach importance to the provision of reasonable returns to its shareholders, maintain the continuity and stability of the profit distribution policy and comply with the relevant provisions of laws and regulations. The profit distribution policy of the Company shall not exceed the Company's cumulative distributable profits and must not undermine the Company's ability to sustain its operations.

2. Forms for profit distribution: The Company shall prioritize cash dividends in terms of profit distribution, and may also adopt stock dividends or a combination of cash and stock dividends.

3. Conditions, ratio, frequency and arrangements for cash dividends.

Cash dividends shall only be distributed when all the following conditions are met: (1) the Company achieves positive distributable net profit (based on the lower of the profit available for distribution in the consolidated statement and the parent company's statement) in each year or half-year period, and the accumulated distributable profits of the Company are positive; (2) the cash flow is sufficient, and the cash dividends will not affect the Company's sustainable operation in the future; (3) the auditor issues a standard unqualified audit report for the financial statements of the Company for the current period; (4) the Company has no significant investment plan or significant cash expenditure or such other events.

A significant investment plan or significant cash expenditure refers to matters involving the purchase or disposal of major assets, as well as investment projects (including but not limited to equity investments, project investments, venture capital, and mergers and acquisitions) of the Company within one year, where the amount exceeds 30% of the Company's most recently audited total assets. Such matters require approval by the Board of the Company and must be submitted to the Shareholders' general meeting for review and approval.

Cash dividend ratio: In the event that the conditions for cash dividends are met, the Company shall distribute no less than 20% of its distributable profits for the year in the form of cash dividends.

Cash dividend frequency: When cash dividend conditions are satisfied, the Company shall distribute profits in cash, and, in principle, cash dividends shall be distributed on an annual basis. The Company may declare interim cash dividends based on its profitability and capital requirements. When a listed company convenes the annual general meeting to consider the annual profit distribution plan, it may consider and approve the conditions, maximum ratio, the cap amount and other matters of the interim cash dividends for the next year. The cap amount of interim dividends for the following year considered at the annual general meeting shall not exceed the net profits attributable to shareholders of the listed company during the corresponding period. The Board shall, in accordance with the resolution of the Shareholders' general meeting, formulate a specific interim dividend proposal subject to the fulfilment of the conditions of profit distribution.

The Board of the Company shall comprehensively consider the characteristics of the industry in which it operates, its stage of development, its own business model, its profitability, debt servicing capacity and whether it has major capital expenditure arrangements, and investor returns, and propose differentiated cash dividend policies in accordance with the procedures prescribed in the Articles of Association:

(1) If the Company is in a mature stage of development and has no major capital expenditure arrangements, when distributing profits, the cash dividends should account for at least 80% of the profit distribution;

(2) If the Company is in a mature stage of development and has major capital expenditure arrangements, when distributing profits, the cash dividends should account for at least 40% of the profit distribution;

(3) If the Company is in the growth stage and has major capital expenditure arrangements, when distributing profits, the cash dividend should account for at least 20% of the profit distribution;

4. Conditions for stock dividend distribution: Where the Board deems the Company's share capital scale and equity structure reasonable, it may propose a stock dividend distribution plan for the approval by the Shareholders' general meeting. When distributing stock dividends, the stock dividend per 10 shares shall be no less than 1 share. In the event that stock dividends are adopted for profit distribution, real and reasonable factors such as the growth of the Company and the dilution of net assets per share should be taken into account.

5. Decision-making procedures for profit distribution

When formulating the cash distribution plan, the Board shall seriously review and discuss the matters such as the timing, conditions, minimum ratio, conditions for adjustments and decision-making procedure requirements for the cash dividend of the Company.

If Independent Directors believe that a cash dividend plan may harm the interests of the Company or minority shareholders, they shall have the right to express an independent opinion. If the Board does not adopt or only partially adopts the opinions of Independent Directors, it shall disclose the opinion of the Independent Directors and the specific reasons for not adopting or not fully adopting the opinion in the announcement of the Board's resolution.

The Audit Committee shall supervise the implementation of cash dividend policy and shareholders' return plan by the Board, and whether to perform the corresponding decision-making procedures and information disclosure. If the Audit Committee finds that the Board fails to strictly implement the cash dividend policy and shareholders' return plan, fails to strictly perform the corresponding decision-making procedures or fails to truthfully, accurately and completely disclose the corresponding information, it shall issue clear opinions and urge the Board to make corrections in a timely manner.

Should any adjustment or amendment to the profit distribution policy set forth in the Articles of Association be deemed necessary, such adjustment must first be reviewed and approved by the Board and the Audit Committee before being submitted to the Shareholders' general meeting for approval. Independent Directors and the Audit Committee of the Company must provide explicit opinions on the matter. Any resolution proposed at the Shareholders' general meeting to adjust the profit distribution policy shall be subject to approval through a special resolution at the Shareholders' general meeting.

In case of adjustment or amendment to cash dividend policies by the Company, it shall be explained in detail whether the conditions and procedures for adjustment or amendment are legal and transparent.

Article 157 After a resolution on the profit distribution plan is made at the Shareholders' general meeting of the Company, or after a specific plan is formulated by the Board of the Company based on the conditions and cap for interim dividends for the next year considered and approved by the annual general meeting, the Board of the Company shall complete the distribution of dividends (or shares) within 2 months after the Shareholders' general meeting is convened. If the specific plan cannot be implemented within 2 months due to the requirements of the laws and regulations and the securities regulatory rules of the place where the Company's shares are listed, the implementation date of the specific plan may be adjusted accordingly in accordance with such requirements and the actual situation.
